

Wright Homes × MojuMedia

Prepared for Derek Wright, CEO | Wright Homes, Draper UT

Anchored on the 2026 sales goal of 199 homes

Executive Summary

MojuMedia is a builder-focused marketing partner that delivers MojuCrew, an AI staffing platform built for homebuilders. Five integrated AI workers cover online sales counseling, lead lifecycle, reputation management, content production, and competitive research, plus hybrid AI-and-human ad management across Google, Meta, and retargeting. The platform integrates directly into Lasso, the CRM Wright is adopting, and surfaces a unified executive-grade dashboard across both systems.

For Wright, the math is concrete: a 24/7 AI sales counselor that responds in under five seconds, ad spend optimized continuously rather than audited quarterly, content velocity at AI scale, and real-time visibility from every dollar of marketing through to every dollar of revenue. Same investment as a traditional consultancy partnership. Materially different leverage.

This engagement is the foundation. The same AI staffing model expands cleanly into other areas of Wright's business as opportunities surface, including post-sale customer experience, warranty and service follow-up, vendor and trade communication, and back-office workflows. The marketing engagement is where the ROI is fastest to prove; the runway from there is open.

What's Happening in Wright's Funnel

From Wright's own Google Analytics, January through April 2026:

- Site users dropped 46% (18,824 to 10,241) while engagement time went up 27%. Fewer visitors, higher quality. The structural problem is paid-channel decay: cross-network down 82%, paid social down 61%, organic flat.
- Chat used by only 0.1% of visitors (11 sessions on 10,241 in April). Phone clicks flat at ~45/month. Most engagement is being absorbed by individual agent pages (3,182 in April), routing buyers around a brand-owned funnel.
- Custom Home page collapsed 94% (2,928 to 162). Likely broken or demoted. Structural funnel leak.
- Contact forms grew 28x (19 to 547). Lead capture is working better; the gap is what happens after capture.
- Offers Page up 77% (2,543 to 4,510). Buyers are price-sensitive in this market.

Wright's biggest single conversion gap is appointment-to-sale at 11%, vs. industry benchmark 17 to 20%. Doubling that one number alone is worth ~50 additional homes per year, roughly $32M in incremental revenue at the $649K average sales price. AI continuously optimizing lead-response and follow-up is precisely how that gap closes.

What MojuCrew Delivers

WORKER	ROLE
MojuChat	24/7 AI sales counselor. Sub-5-second response on every inbound. Qualifies, books appointments, hands warm leads to sales. English and Spanish.
MojuCRM	AI lead-scoring and lifecycle layer running on top of Lasso. Pushes every conversation in via API; writes intent, score, and next-best-action back onto the contact.
MojuReviews	Continuous Google / Yelp / Facebook monitoring. AI-drafted, brand-aligned responses for sales-leadership approval.
MojuContent	Ad copy, landing pages, social posts, blog content, email templates drafted at scale. Lasso continues to send; MojuContent fuels the velocity.
MojuResearch	Weekly competitor pricing, inventory, and incentive tracking (DR Horton, Lennar, Ivory, Edge Homes). Local-market trend insights as conditions shift.
Hybrid Ad Mgmt	AI handles creative generation, A/B testing, bid optimization. Human strategist on top for budget and audience strategy. Wright owns the ad accounts.

Lasso integration: API push from MojuChat, AI enrichment writeback onto contact records, MojuContent generates email templates that Lasso sends, unified dashboards across both systems. Wright keeps Lasso. MojuCrew makes Lasso perform.

Investment

TIER	INVESTMENT	FOR
Foundation	$1,950 / month	Builders <50 homes/year
Growth (recommended for Wright)	$3,950 / month	100 to 199 home builders
Scale	$5,950 / month	150+ homes / multi-site / premium reporting

Growth tier includes: all 5 AI workers, hybrid ad management, full Lasso integration, executive-grade dashboards, monthly strategy review, quarterly business reviews.

Setup: $4,950 one-time, includes platform configuration, Lasso integration build, sales-team onboarding, and the day-one ad-spend audit. Creditable toward the first 3 months.

Media spend: pass-through, no agency markup. Wright owns every ad account directly.

Term: month-to-month, OR 12-month at 10% off.

Year-2 steady-state: approximately $3,450/month at the Growth tier.

Reallocation, Not a Topline Increase

Wright's $500K budget contains roughly $80 to $90K per year of currently low-ROI spend that AI can redirect inside the first 60 days, before any conversation about increasing the topline:

- Billboards: $5,000/month with no measurable conversion attribution
- Print: ~$2,700/month, also unattributable in a digital-first builder funnel
- No paid third-party listings ($0 on Zillow / Realtor.com paid placement) while competitors are paying for top-of-listing position
- Cross-network spend collapsed 82% mid-quarter, needs immediate audit
- Paid Social down 61% while audience quality improved, smart bid expansion can recover volume

A continuously-optimizing AI doesn't audit waste once. It identifies inefficiency every hour, in real time, and reallocates the freed dollars into channels that convert.

Path to Start

Path A: 30-Day Pilot (recommended) 30 days at the Foundation tier ($1,950) running MojuChat live on Wright's website, leads piping straight into Lasso, MojuContent producing ad and email creative, and a baseline ad-spend audit delivered in week one. Wright sees real lead-response and conversion data before scaling commitment. If Wright moves to Growth, the pilot fee credits forward.

Path B: Direct to Growth Tier Sign Growth at the 10%-off annual rate. Setup credits toward the first 3 months. All AI workers live within the first week; Lasso integration complete and tested within 10 days. Best for moving toward the 199-home goal with minimal delay.
